

Membership Benefits for Southern Colorado Clean Cities Coalition

Becoming a member of the Southern Colorado Clean Cities Coalition (SC4) affirms your commitment to improving southern Colorado's air quality, promoting local and national economic security, and reducing our nation's dependence on petroleum. The Southern Colorado Clean Cities Coalition is the source to connect your organization with fuel reduction technologies, clean air technologies, alternative fuels and vehicles to diversify your fleet, information and assistance with grants and funding, and industry networking opportunities.

By joining SC4, you will receive several benefits to include: opportunities for collaboration and information-sharing among members, opportunities to meet national alternative fuel and technology experts, access to potential new clients. SC4 stakeholders benefit from training and educational opportunities, access to potential funding resources and support, and partnership opportunities. Your membership demonstrates active involvement in making your community a better place to live and a commitment to reducing dependence on foreign oil.

Every year, SC4 hosts various training sessions for stakeholders of the Coalition. These information sessions include, but are not limited to: quarterly stakeholder meetings, information about the location of alternative fuel stations, trainings by industry experts on available alternative fuel vehicles, conversations with local fleet managers on their success stories, and opportunities to learn the best way to capture government, corporate, and foundation funding.

Access to funding opportunities is an important benefit of becoming a member of the SC4. The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) and various other organizations that offer grants and funding make announcements directly to Clean Cities Coalitions. These opportunities are for a multitude of alternative fuel uses, such as vehicle purchase, infrastructure development, fuel purchasing, and research requests amongst others. To obtain monies from the U.S. DOE under their State Energy Plan funding program, you must be a Clean Cities member. As a member of SC4 you will receive notification when these opportunities are announced and assistance in preparing the grant application, depending on membership level.

Please take a moment today and fill out a stakeholder membership application. Your annual membership confirms your commitment to improving our community's air quality, reducing our nation's petroleum dependence, and working toward environmental and economic sustainability for southern Colorado.
